

2020 NACFC Media Attendance Policy

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation provides the option of complimentary access to the North American Cystic Fibrosis Conference and the Exhibit Hall to credentialed members of the media for the express purpose of gathering information to produce news coverage of the 34th Annual North American Cystic Fibrosis Conference (NACFC). Posters, networking, Supporter Showcase, and symposia will be available on demand starting Oct. 7. The live simulcast of NACFC will start Oct. 21. Media credentials are granted to representatives of news media outlets that provide widely accessible, regularly appearing, original news coverage to professionals and the public.

Questions regarding the media attendance policy can be sent to mediarelations@cff.org.

Press Registration Requirements

All media planning to attend NACFC must register with the Foundation's Media Relations team. Media are asked to submit their registration request prior to the NACFC registration deadline.

Those approved for registration will receive an email with specific instructions about how to register. All press registration credentials are subject to review by the Foundation's Media Relations office.

Representatives from qualified media outlets must represent the editorial staff, not the advertising or marketing staff of their news organization. Publishers, sales, advertising, and marketing departments of books, magazines, web, and broadcast outlets are not considered part of the editorial staff and are not permitted to register as media.

Physicians covering the meeting for a media outlet may register as a regular attendee or as the representative of an approved media organization, but not as both.

Other Guidelines

Photography and Video: Photography, video, and audio recording of any kind for any purpose is prohibited without prior authorization.

Social Media: The Foundation encourages the use of Twitter within embargo restrictions to update followers on the latest news coming from NACFC sessions. The Twitter hashtag for the 2020 NACFC is #NACFC. Reporters can follow @CF_Foundation for conference updates.

Press Conferences: Press conferences are prohibited.

Interview Requests: No interviews of Foundation representatives or staff may be conducted without express consent by the Foundation's Media Relations office. The Foundation's press staff will be available to review requests, but cannot guarantee availability of specific spokespersons.

Violations of press registration: Registered media may not use their NACFC access to sell products or services to attendees or exhibitors. Media may not distribute promotional materials of any kind during NACFC, including materials related to their respective media outlets. In addition, media may not work in any Supporting Showcase sponsored by their publishing companies. Individuals who need to work in the Supporting Showcase are required to register as a supporter. Media found in violation will lose media credentials for this and subsequent meetings.

Special Notes

For security purposes, NACFC media credentials:

- Are required for admittance to all events
- Are the sole property of the Foundation
- Are non-transferable (may not be shared)

False certification of individuals as media or paid meeting attendees, misuse of media credentials, assisting unauthorized persons to gain access to any Foundation meeting or co-sponsored symposia event or materials, or any inappropriate or unauthorized conduct will be just cause for:

- Repossessing media credentials
- Revoking media credentials of any individuals involved
- Expelling all parties involved from the meeting without obligation for refund of any fees

Information regarding media registrants is proprietary. The Foundation does not give, rent, or sell current or past information on NACFC media registration lists including but not limited to contact information and names.

Embargo Policy

All science being presented at the Foundation's 34th Annual North American Cystic Fibrosis Conference (NACFC) is embargoed and remains confidential/not for public information or release until abstracts are made available on the Wiley Online Library on Oct. 7, 2020

All Information to be presented in an oral or video presentation at the 2020 NACFC is embargoed until the scheduled start time of the presentation or livestream.

Information included in poster or e-poster presentations are proprietary and confidential. All information is confidential unless express, written consent is granted by the author(s). If consent is granted by the author to release the content of their presentation, the embargo will lift at the start of the session that includes the presentation, or when the session is made available on demand.

Members of the media must adhere to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation's Embargo Policy for all abstracts, oral, livestream, video, or poster presentations and cannot break the embargo even if the information is obtained from an outside company or organization. Failure to abide by the Embargo Policy may result in suspension of media credentials at the 34th NACFC as well as future meetings, and may also impact the ability to receive advance press materials for future meetings.
