

Thank You for Making NACFC 2017 a Success!

This year's North American Cystic Fibrosis Conference (NACFC), brought together nearly 5,000 scientists, clinicians, and caregivers from around the world to share ideas on the latest advances in cystic fibrosis research, care, and drug development. And since you are reading this, you were one of them!

Thank you for attending NACFC 2017. Your participation played a huge role in the overall success of this event and we hope that you not only enjoyed the conference, but were able to take home a lot of great information to share with your colleagues, patients and families, as well as incorporate into your daily quest to improve the quality of life for all people with cystic fibrosis.

While the onsite portion of this conference has concluded, the resources, information and learning opportunities continue throughout the year. We hope that you take advantage of the resources we are sharing below.

As always, if you have any questions, please feel free to contact us at (301) 907-2513 or nacfc@cff.org.

Don't Forget to Claim Your CME/CEU Credits for NACFC 2017 and Complete Your Session and Speaker Evaluations

Visit the NACFC Continuing Education Portal to obtain your continuing education credits from NACFC 2017. You must process your credits by November 20, 2017.

Even if you are not seeking CME/CEU credits for NACFC 2017, we still value your input. Please take a moment to evaluate the effectiveness of this year's speakers and the sessions that you attended. Evaluations also can be accessed through the NACFC Continuing Education Portal. Your feedback will aid in enhancing future NACFC educational programming.

NACFC 2017 Lives On With Live Stream Sessions

Were you unable to attend a particular NACFC session in person? Or want to share the valuable information you experienced with your colleagues who were unable to attend in person? We have limitless "open seats" for you through live-streaming! Register to watch sessions that were live streamed during NACFC 2017.

The three plenary sessions, as well as several symposia, workshops, and a discipline group session were live streamed at NACFC 2017. Live streamed sessions featured talks by leading CF experts on topics of major interest, including: current exercise research in CF, collaborative approach to palliative care, nutrition research, lung transplantation, and healthcare reform and what it means for people with CF.

Audio Synced-to-Slides Coming in Mid-December!

As part of your registration fee, you will receive access to the audio synced-to-slide recordings of the NACFC scientific sessions held on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday (i.e. plenaries, symposia, and workshops) from NACFC 2017. Recordings of the short courses also will be available for purchase.

For those who were unable to attend, these materials are available for purchase as well.

Stay tuned to your inbox in mid-December for more information.

The NACFC 2017 Mobile App Is Still Live and Available

Everything You Need Is Still At Your Fingertips

Even though you have returned from Indianapolis, NACFC 2017 lives on in the palm of your hand.

You can still access all of the features and functions of the NACFC 2017 Mobile App.

Through the mobile app, you can view abstracts, symposium summaries, handouts and case presentations. You can also access the notes you took through the app during conference and email them to yourself. Additionally, you also can connect with the session speakers, the new contacts you made and search and direct message with all attendees.

Didn't download the app? It's not too late for that either!

Using your mobile device, there are TWO easy methods to download:

1. Open your mobile app invitation email (email us at nacfc@cff.org if you didn't receive the email) and follow the directions.
2. OR Scan the QR Code.
 - a. Enter event password: NACFC2017.
 - b. Follow directions to download Attendee Hub app.
3. Don't have a mobile device? Use the web version here.
